GETTING ALONG WITH YOUR ROOMMATE

Honesty, consideration, mutual respect, discussion, compromise, and understanding are important in learning to live with your roommate. If you experience initial difficulties in adjusting to a new roommate or to student housing life, remember, you are not alone. It would be surprising if you felt at home right away. The following steps work towards establishing an amicable relationship with your roommate.

A. Communicate - discuss pet peeves, personal habits, sleeping and rising schedules, musical tastes, needs, wants, and expectations.

B. Set ground rules - How are you going to divide the room? Who is going to water the plants? Who gets first dibs on bathroom/shower on what days? When and Who is going to clean the bathroom? Who can borrow what, when, and for how long? What will studying time be? What about overnight guests? Make arrangements and keep your word!

C. Talk to your roommate - An initial discussion on how to arrange the room, how to decorate, and with what. What items somebody has which might be useful (refrigerator, lamps, etc.). What plants and other accessories to buy, etc.
