- HN Vid-1342 Liar : deception in society. -- 1997, c1995.
1 videocassette (50 min.)
SUMMARY: From love to international affairs, from war to business, nearly everyone lies. This program reveals the vital role played by deception in our society, and examines new "foolproof" scientific methods for sorting out the truth. Studies by evolutionary psychologists link lying to the power of language, and show how children and others learn to lie to survive socially. At a university, mathematical formulae and sophisticated computer technology combine to create the Computer-Based Polygraph (CBP)--a revolutionary lie-detector which its creators claim will usher in a new era of scientific diagnosis of truth. But will it work? And if it does, how damaging will it be to our personal, social, business, and political relationships?

Substance Abuse

- RM Vid-1245 The addicted brain. -- [1995], c1987.
1 videocassette (26 min.) -- (The brain)
SUMMARY: Shows how the human brain manufactures and uses drugs. Explores the cutting edge of developments in the biochemistry of addiction and addictive behavior.
- HV Vid-1204 Addiction : the family in crisis. -- [1995], c1994.
1 videocassette (18 min.)
SUMMARY: Explains alcoholism using expert commentary and one family's experience. Tells the story of one man's addiction to alcohol and explains the process of addiction in the brain. Shows how a person starts abusing a drug to alter a mood or avoid a thought or situation. With continued drug use, the brain's pleasure circuit is activated and behaves as if the drug is important for survival. Explores how the family of the alcoholic is devastated by his behavior and the typical role of "enabler" which family members too often play. The program follows the alcoholic through a treatment program as he learns the causes of his addiction and how to keep his alcoholism under control through abstention.
- RC Vid-1243 Addiction and mental illness. -- 1994.
1 videocassette (28 min.)
SUMMARY: Many people who are mentally ill are also addicted to drugs or alcohol. These are separate problems that require separate treatments, yet few people have been diagnosed correctly for both conditions. This program profiles a woman who is manic depressive and alcoholic, and a man with schizophrenia who is also alcoholic. Dr. Fred Goodwin, director of the National Institute of Mental Health, explains ongoing research that may help identify and treat adolescents before they begin to experience problems.

- HV Vid-1301 Chemical dependency : a disease of denial. -- c1990.
1 videocassette (20 min.)
SUMMARY: The program is a tool for breaking through denial and accepting chemical dependency as a disease over which the alcoholic or other drug addict is powerless. Examines the genetic, psychosocial, and environmental factors of chemical addiction and reviews current research findings. Shared stories of recovering alcoholics and other drug addicts will help individuals identify and understand the signs and symptoms of chemical dependency such as loss of control, denial, justification of use despite adverse consequences, powerlessness, depression, and guilt. This video offers insight that encourages surrender and genuine healing to begin in the initial stages of

- E Vid-1364 Coming apart. Picture this. -- c1999.
 1 videocassette (45 min.) -- (Century : events that shaped the world ; 10)
 SUMMARY: In the late 1940's, while the Soviet Union and the U.S. eyed each other over the Iron Curtain, conservative Americans at all levels of society worried about communist infiltration--especially in the movie industry, since that medium plays a huge role in shaping public perceptions and attitudes. This program reveals a time of McCarthyism and career-ending blacklists, a time when freedom of speech itself became a casualty in the desperate fight to protect democracy from "The red menace."

World History

- D Vid-645 The age of absolutism ; The enlightened despots. -- c1989.
 1 videocassette (56 min.)
 SUMMARY: 17th century Europe is characterized by the crown rulers controlling all powers of state. The desire for civil peace contributes to the crown's ability to enforce the "divine right of kings." Monarchs considered reforms in order to create more efficient and successful societies but not at the expense of their own power. The important contributions of Frederick the Great, the French philosopher Voltaire, and the medieval legacy of the corvée are discussed.
