Teams fail to complete their objectives 60% of the time. But when teams work, they outperform a group of individual performers. Teams also differ in how well they perform. There is a difference between teamwork and a high-performance team. In this workshop, we'll discuss how to create teams that not only meet their performance objectives, but exceed them. Some of the topics to be discussed include:

- Why do teams fail?
- What specific things can businesses do to increase the likelihood of team success?
- What are the essential skills for team members to have?
- What characterizes high-performance teams? How are they different than "regular" teams?
- How do we move a team from successfully meeting standards to a high-performance team?
